

PRIVACY POLICY

Gene Genie Scotland holds personal data in the form of the email address and/or postal address provided by clients. This is used only to contact clients regarding research work which is being considered or has been carried out.

It is the policy of Gene Genie Scotland not to sell, distribute or lease clients' personal information to any third parties.

Data obtained by Gene Genie Scotland as part of a research project is already in the public domain. Nevertheless it will not be passed on to third parties (such as living relatives) without the express permission of the client who has commissioned the work.

May 2018